

Great news - we have a new website! It's faster loading, better looking and easier to use. And of course, it has all your favorite Design Sessions.

Moving over is simple...

STEP 1: Click here to create a membership on the new site.

STEP 2: Complete the sign-up form (see below for what the sign-up page looks like) and re-enter your payment information. Don't worry we will make sure you aren't double charged in Step 4.

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the sign-up page for Kinwoven Design Sessions. The page has a light beige background. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the following links: KINWOVEN, ABOUT, LEARN, DESIGN SESSIONS, PROJECTS, VIDEOS, BLOG, SHOP, and CART (0). The main content area is titled "Kinwoven Design Sessions" and includes the following text: "Do you want a beautiful home? Rebecca and Sharrah are here to help. Learn from these world famous designers as they teach you the design principles they use to transform homes for their clients." and "With over 60 hours of interior design training and counting, the Design Sessions will teach you everything you need to know to become your own designer!". Below this text are four input fields: "First Name", "Last Name", "Email", and "Select payment option". The "Select payment option" field has a dropdown menu with "$10.00 Monthly" selected. At the bottom of the form is a black button with the text "PAY WITH CARD".

STEP 3: Once you complete the sign-up process you'll receive an email from us to activate your Design Sessions account. Click the button in the email that says "Activate your account" and you'll be prompted to create your password. Don't forget to check your spam folder if you don't see it!

STEP 4: Email hello@kinwoven.com so we can cancel your payments on the old site.

STEP 5: Enjoy the new site!

Starting in August, new Design Sessions will only be uploaded to the new site. Make the switch today!

Have a question? Feel free to reach out to hello@kinwoven.com with any questions, but we answered some common questions we thought you might have below!

Q: How many Design Sessions are on the new site?

A: The entire Design Sessions library (that's 125 videos) is on the new site! Moving forward we will add any new Sessions to the new website, not the old one.

Q: Can I use the same email and password for the new site?

A: Yes. You can use the same email and password when you create your new account on the new site.

Q: Do I have to re-enter my credit card information?

A: Yes. Since the new site is built on a different platform than the old one, we are unable to transfer your credit card information. Simply enter it when you create your account on the new site. Once you create an account on the new website, email hello@kinwoven.com so we stop charging you from the old website.

Q: Do I have to cancel my membership on the old site?

A: Once you have set up your account on the new website, email hello@kinwoven.com so we can deactivate your old account.

Q: Will I still be able to sign in on the old site once I switch?

A: No. Once your membership is moved to the new site there will be no reason to return to the old one.

Design Session Tools

Below are all of the tools that we have gone through so far in the Design Sessions. As we move through the Cliff House room by room I am going to highlight every tool I needed in the process of designing that specific room. Below are all of the Design Session tools (excluding Christmas) with the tools I used to design the Cliff House living room in bold.

Tool 1	The Key Principles of Accessorizing	Tool 17	Moulding and Wall Treatments

The Design Process

1. Assess the Situation (Tool 25)

The first step in any design process is to assess what you are working with. Take a hard look at your kitchen and try to answer the following questions:

- What are the issues?
- What are the challenges?
- What are the things you love about the room?
- What are the things you can't stand?

The Cliff House living room has a million-dollar view of the ocean that is breathtaking. Before I got my hands on this project, a couple of windows and bi-folding doors looked out at the ocean. When I saw the space for the first time, I instantly knew that to highlight the view I would install disappearing sliding glass doors on the entire back wall of the living room. The challenge of this living room would be getting enough furniture in the space to seat a good amount of people, but not too much that it distracted from the view. I also knew that I had to figure out a solution to create a symmetrical moment on the fireplace wall that ran all the way into the kitchen.

2. Create a Floorplan (SketchUp Sessions)

I am an avid user of the 3D modeling program, SketchUp Pro. I highly suggest watching the Sessions available to you as a Design Session member where I teach you the basics of this program. There are eleven Sessions all about SketchUp located in the "The Vault" section. If you don't want to deal with SketchUp, use graph paper, and start measuring!

Building a model of the Cliff House in SketchUp helped me visualize what the space could be before I called any contractors or bought any furniture. In my model, I designed the focal point wall with the fireplace in the living room and range in the kitchen. From my model I was also able to determine a proper furniture layout because I am able to see walkways, entrances and exit. This gives me a good idea of the sizes I can get for my furniture pieces.

3. Determine the Style (Tool 26)

Knowing the style you want your living room to be early on in the process is going to be helpful as you go to select stone (Tool 23), tile (Tool 19), and flooring (Tool 22). This is a great time to go window shopping to see what's new, what's speaking to you, and what's in your budget! Make sure to take photos and measurements, and always ask for samples to take home with you. These will be extremely helpful to you later on!

The living room and kitchen in the Cliff House were essentially one big room. To make both spaces cohesive, I selected hardscapes, colors, and finishes that were consistent throughout both spaces. I used the Quarzo Bianco stone on the wall with the range and the wall with the fireplace. On the columns throughout the entire home, I chose the silver eucalyptus I used on the kitchen cabinets.

4. Pick Your Flooring (Tool 22)

Flooring is a very important step in the design process. It covers a large percentage of the room so settling the right foundation is crucial.

In the Cliff House I chose a 8" hand rubbed plank of hardwood in a sandy color. This was perfect for minimizing the problem of sand from the beach. I ran this same flooring throughout the entire upper floor of the home.

5. Select the Paint Color(s) (Tool 19) and/or Wallpaper (Tool 17)

Most people choose their paint color and/or wallpaper first. BIG MISTAKE! You should go through the majority of the design process and then select your paint color and/or wallpaper. Why? Well, at this point you'll have chosen nearly every important item in the room. Now it is easy to layout all of your selections and choose a color that blends beautifully!

You are probably wondering why this step is occurring so soon in the design process if you're a longtime Design Session member! Well, in the living room of the Cliff House I broke my own rule of selecting wallpaper and paint color(s) as one of the last things you do when designing a space. Because I had already designed the kitchen, I carried carried the same wallpaper and paint color into the living room.

6. Decide on the Furniture Layout (Tool 3 & Tool 12)

Deciding how many pieces you need, where they go and how the traffic pattern is affected is super important not only to the finished result, but to the design process as well. This is where having a SketchUp model can be extremely useful. SketchUp is a to-scale model, so you will get a pretty good idea of the sizes of furniture pieces you can have.

You know me and samples... always ask for samples and always bring them with you when shopping for your space. I brought a sample of the suede chairs I selected in the kitchen when I went shopping for the living room furniture. I ended up finding a sofa that paired beautifully with the suede chairs. I custom-made the sofa to the exact size I wanted. I also came across a chair that initially I wasn't too fond of, but it was too comfortable to pass up! I changed the color of the chair to blend with the style of the room and knew I had to place it by the fireplace so people could see the details on the side and back as they walked past it. Finally, I found a coffee table that was the best of both worlds - half coffee table, half ottoman. Once I had the main components of the living room selected, I used these to guide the rest of the room.

7. Select the Area Rug (Tool 13)

An area rug can determine the entire look and feel of a room. I typically find an area rug that sparks inspiration and helps determine the color palette and style of the rest of the room.

I layered two area rugs in the living room of the Cliff House. Both area rugs were neutral and went well with the cabinets in the kitchen. One rug had a more intricate pattern to it, and the other was more toned down. I used the area rug with the pattern as the base and layered the muted rug on top of it.

8. Identify Lighting Locations and Select Fixtures (Tool 5)

With a solid furniture layout and the majority of the hardscapes selected, you can now identify where you will have lighting. The electricians are often the first sub-contractors in on a project. They will make a mess of the ceiling so it is best to get them in first. Be sure to think of your lighting as layering.

I found a light fixture with black leather straps in the same brass finish as the knobs and pulls I used in the kitchen. I knew it would look amazing over the console table behind the couch. Surprisingly this was the only light fixture I had in the living room! I made a lighting plan with canned lights that hit on all the appropriate areas of the room - the sofa, coffee table, fireplace, columns, etc.

9. Determine Where You Will Have Window Treatments (Tool 6)

When it comes to window treatments there are a few questions you should ask yourself: Do you need window treatments in your room? If so, stationary panels or traversing drapes? How high? How wide? Will they cover the walls or just the windows? Do you need privacy?

There was one window behind the sofa in the Cliff House where I would need window treatments. Because this window was on the same wall as the sliding glass door in the kitchen, I used the same neutral fabric with a laser-cut banded to the leading edge. For the sliding glass doors that looked out to the ocean, I had roller shades installed in the ceiling that dropped down at the click of a button in case my clients wanted less light coming in the room or some privacy.

10. Add Accent Pillows (Tool 16) and Accessorize (Tool 1 & Tool 15)

My absolute favorite step in the entire process! This is where you have the chance to pull everything together. Remember to repeat colors and finishes throughout. Add personal photos or collections to personalize your home with things that your family cherishes.

In the Cliff House, I mixed together different throw pillows that added to the calming, sea breeze color palette. On the coffee table I placed a couple accessories and a plant on top and coffee table books in the storage area at the bottom. In a niche by the front door, I designed an iron bookcase with cabinets below for storage. I used the open shelving to decorate with books, personal items from the clients and beachy elements like coral and seaglass.

11. Make Your Home a Smart Home

Of course if you want to get fancy make your home a smart home! This step adds to the ease of use, and you can control most everything in your home all in one place!

In the Cliff House we had all of the lights and electronics hooked up to one system so our clients could easily turn everything on or off right from their iPad!
